COLLINS TRIAL TO THE JURY

Defendant Took Stand Today
After Which Attorneys
Rest Case

ARGUMENTS ARE COMMENCED

DEFENSE SUBMITS CASE WITHOUT
ARGUMENT TODAY

Surprise Created in Court at Conclusion of T. B. Fulton's Address to the Jury.

At the conclusion of Mr. Fulton's argument for the State this afternoon, Mr. Smythe for the defense surprised everybody by announcing that the defense would submit the case without argument. Court thereupon adjourned till 5:30 this afternoon to permit the court to charge the jury. This means the Collins case will go to the jury tonight.

It is possible the court's charge can not be ready by 5:30 but it is the intention of giving the case to the jury as soon as the charge is completed and delivered by the court.

The principal event today in the George E. Collins murder trial which is now drawing to a close was the testimony of the defendant who was sworn following the evidence of one of his attorneys, Mr. H. C. Webster of Toledo. Collins went on the stand at 9:15 this morning. The defendant's testimony was clear and he held up very well under the strict cross-examination by Prosecutor Fitzgibbon.

Immediately after Collins was excused, the attorneys for the defense rested, and the State's witnesses in rebuttal were called.

At just 1:40 this afternoon the State finally rested and in ten minutes Attorney T. B. Fulton began his argument for the State.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

Judge Seward announced yesterday afternoon to the attorneys for the defense in the Collins murder trial that he would expect all of their testimony in by Friday evening, so it is believed that the case may go to the jury late Saturday afternoon. The defense still has a number of witnesses to be examined.

Thursday afternoon Mrs. Lottie Finly, residing on West Jefferson street, followed the witness Nicholas Powell. This witness stated that she saw the shooting take place, saw one man walk up as if to shake hands, and then saw the shot fired. She stated that she saw two of the men running and the one, walking slowly.

The defendant, George Collins, walked to the witness stand and the witness stated that he was not the man whom she saw doing the shooting.

In the cross-examination the witness stated that there were four shots fired.

Mrs. George, 199 Jefferson street, said that on the fatal evening, she was at her home and saw four shots fired. She said that she saw seven men meet in the commons. The witness said that all four shots were fired south; that about an hour before she saw three men standing behind Powell's stable talking.

The witness varied from the others considerably in the location of the shooting, the number of men and some minor particulars.

John Marker was called as the next witness. Mr. B. G. Smythe conducted the examination, after which the prosecutor began his cross-examination in which he referred to the trouble of Marker and John Goodwin in which the latter was killed by some Italians as an outgrowth of the strike at the Wehrle foundry.

At this point there was strenuous objections from the counsel for the defense, and after a lengthy argument before the court, Judge Seward sustained the objections of the defendant's attorneys, and the prosecutor was forced to abandon the subject.

He then cross-examined the witness regarding the statement claimed by him to have been made by Taylor. The witness claimed that Taylor said they were going to lay the trouble on to him and that he "didn't know how to get out of it."

F. A. Woolson, a reporter for the Advocate, was called.

"Were you the reporter for the Advocate in December last year?"

"I was."

"Did you have a talk with Frank Crown?"

"I remember of talking to Frank Crown; that is I remember that there was a fellow in the trouble named Crown."

"Did you hear him say to you that Taylor shot directly at him and the bullet whizzed uncomfortably 'near his head'?"

"I can't say that I remember."

"Did you read your report in the paper the next day?"

"I can't say that I did."

Rose Hickman was next called. She testified that a bullet struck her house on the night of the shooting. She was not cross-examined.

Stephen Ulrich, a resident of West Newark, came to the stand and testified that shortly before the shooting he (Collins) came to him with his overcoat and he took it to the tailor shop. He further said that the coat was not taken from the shop until after the shooting, and that he afterward gave it to a polisher who presented a signed order from Collins.

C. A. Wilson of the American-Tribune was called and upon examination said that Frank Crown, in an interview, had stated that Taylor had made threats against him, and also that he (Taylor) had shot at him, and uncomfortably near him.

Horatio Wood was the next witness. The witness stated that Taylor had said that all of those boys from Hanover knew him, that they would lay it onto him and that before he got his "neck stretched" he would lay it on to some one else.

Mayor S. H. McCleery was called. He brought the criminal docket of the mayor's court, but through a misunderstanding the mayor was excused.

Court Stenographer C. C. Cooper was asked as to Crown's testimony before the coroner, evidently for the purpose of impeaching the witness Crown.

FRIDAY MORNING.

The first witness of the defense Friday morning was Charles H. Wells who was examined regarding the angle at which the fatal shot was fired. It was shown that in case a man was kneeling and fired so that the bullet in penetrating the body at an angle of five degrees, the man shooting would have been 20 feet away from the man who was shot. The examination of this witness was wholly scientific and rather technical. The cross-examination was evidently quite satisfactory to the prosecutor.

Attorney Webster was sworn, and upon being asked by Mr. Smythe if Hugh Taylor at the county jail, did not say to himself and Mr. Phil Smythe that he had straight information through Mr. Fitzgibbon to the effect that if he stuck to the story that he told the officers, Judge Seward would release him within a week and that if he did not they'd send him to the penitentiary. Mr. Webster replied that Taylor had made such a statement.

At 9:15 Friday morning the defendant, George E. Collins, was placed upon the witness stand.

He stated that he was 38 years of age; was born in Tippecanoe City, O. The defendant's life history and trade were traced. He stated that he was married in 1899 and had two children, one died at the age of ten days and another at the age of two years.

"You may tell us what you did when you got to the Wehrle stove works."

"I applied for work. The next morning I went to work polishing. I polished on stoves for a little over four weeks. I came in one morning and found a note on my work telling me to do it over. I refused and they discharged me. I went over to Holler's saloon and I went to hunt the secretary of the union. About fifteen days after I was working there was the first time that I saw any of the striking polishers."

"On the day that Loar was shot I left Holler's saloon about half past one. I went from there down to what's called the 'Iron Clad' to take some metal polish which I had sold. I went to the barber shop and then went to see Mr. Ludy who talked about taking some polish of me. After I left Ludy's I stopped in Mr. Embury's and then went over to Mr. Holler's. Later I met a moulder, and met Britton and Kerrigan, and we went to Keefe's. I was in there from half past three until about five o'clock. I was talking in there and standing at the end of the bar. It wasn't but about ten or fifteen minutes till Mr. Hagerly came in. I'd left a pair of shoes there for him. He hadn't more than got out until somebody hollered in the door that there was something doing over in the bottoms. Some one got in ahead of me and gave me a shove; then they all ran out and I ran with them. We'd got about even with the signboard when I heard three or four shots fired. We ran upon the bank and P. J. made the remark 'I wonder if any of our boys' I said 'I'd go over and see. I started over and got out in the field and met a young man coming back. I asked him what was going on. He said there was trouble over there and I asked him if he was in it and he said no, he was getting away from it. I said 'who are you?' and he said he was a moulder."

FR. SHERMAN HURT BY CRITICISM IS ANGERED BY PRESIDENT'S ACTION.

Atlanta, Ga., May 4.—Father Sherman expresses regrets that his mission should have been misunderstood and expresses himself as keenly hurt by the criticisms of the people and the press.

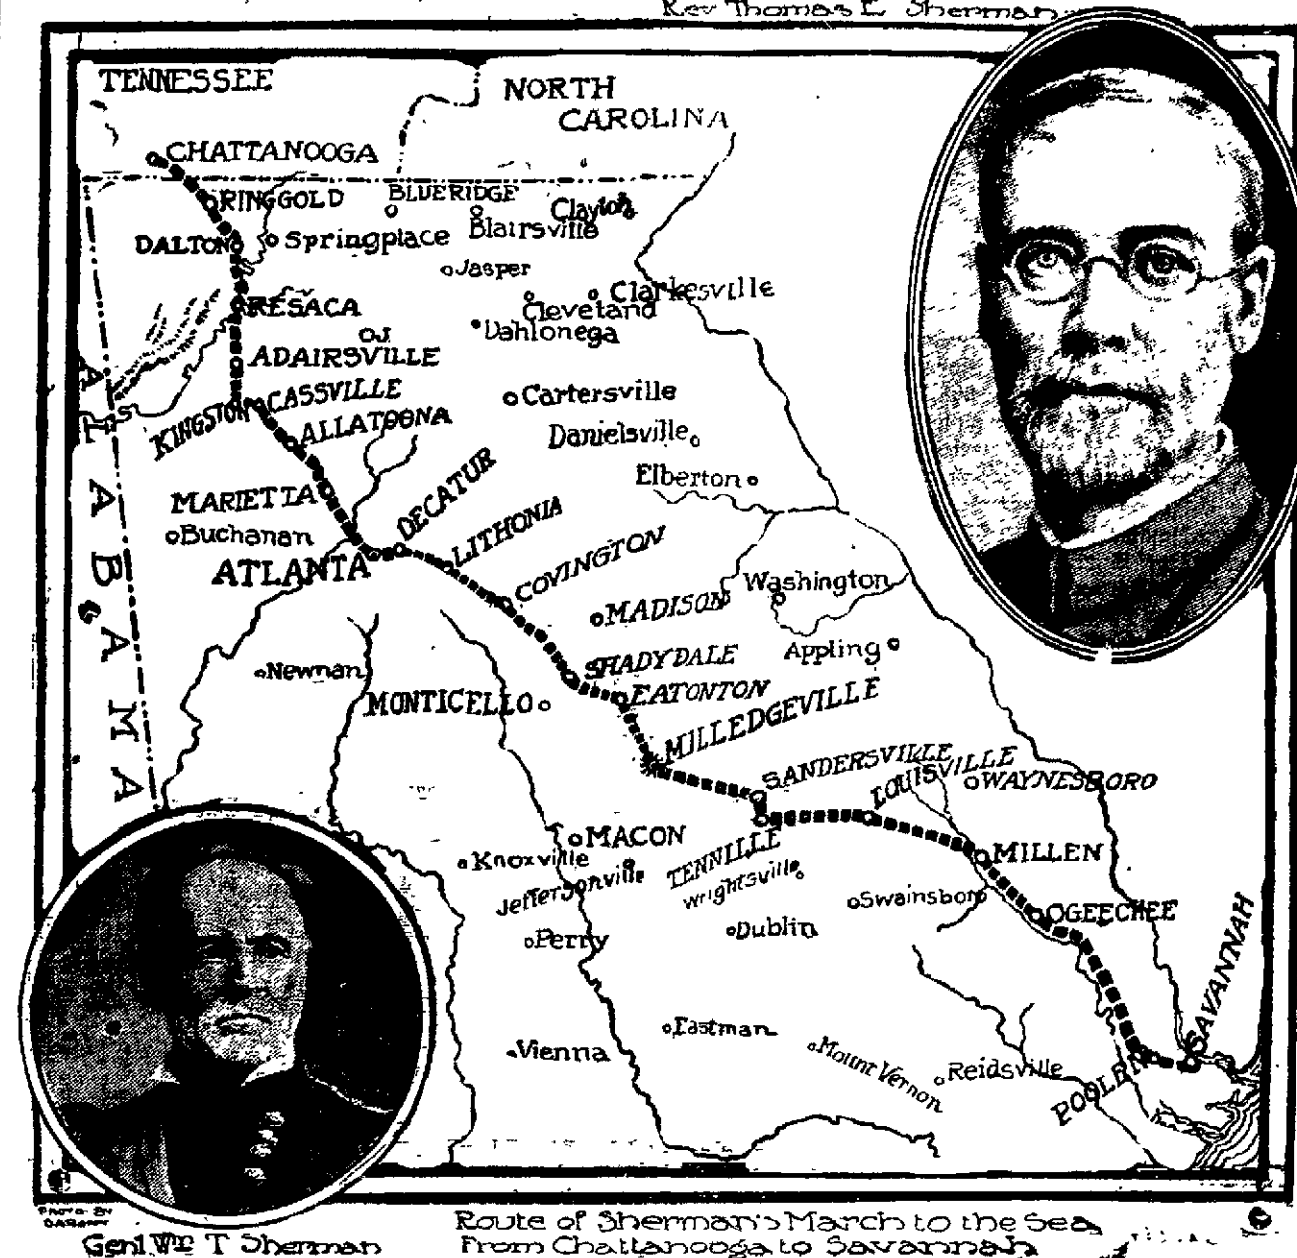

Cartersville, Ga., May 4.—Stung by criticism and angered by the action of President Roosevelt in withdrawing the escort of United States cavalry, Father Sherman has abandoned his trip over the route taken by his father, General W. T. Sherman, when the latter marched through Georgia to the sea 40 years ago, and has returned to Chattanooga.

Father Sherman and his escort reached here Wednesday night, where they learned of the President's order. So wrought up was Father Sherman over what he considered an insult by President Roosevelt that he at once took his baggage from the army wagon, accompanying the expedition, and had it moved into the home of his friend, General Granger, who was military secretary to General W. T. Sherman and who has resided here for several years.

Though continuing pleasant relations with the officers and men who had accompanied him, he broke all official connection with them. He declined to be any longer considered as their guest.

Government's commissioned agents. He claims. He also holds that it came unsought by him. It was pressed upon him by what is recognized as powers with authority to act for the Government in matters of such kind.

But the action of the Government was not the only thing to agitate Father Sherman. He learned how the name of Sherman is hated in Georgia, though 40 years have passed since that famous march.

General and Mrs. A. O. Granger had arranged for a reception in honor of Father Sherman and had bidden the prominent people of Cartersville. But few came to meet Father Sherman.

Father Sherman's trip over the route of his father's famous march through Georgia brought forth indignant protests from the Southern contingent in Congress and an investigation by the War Department into the responsibility for the reported detail of United States soldiers to act as escort for "Old Tom's" son.

Senator Bacon of Georgia, called the attention of the War Department officials to the Chattanooga report of Father Sherman's trip, under military escort, over the line of march followed by General Sherman between that place and Atlanta and demanded an explanation.

Commissioner Garfield Says Investigation is Mainly Based on Tariffs and Records of Railway Companies
Themselves—President's Message.

Washington, May 4.—Astounding revelations regarding the methods and practices of the Standard Oil company and its railroad allies were made today when President Roosevelt in a special message, sent to Congress the report of Commissioner Garfield.

Seldom has organized capital been so relentlessly pilloried. The work of the independent investigators of the Oil Trust in recent years has been completely overshadowed.

Mr. Garfield presents an array of facts and figures with a clearness of expression that a child could understand. He convicts the Oil Trust of flagrant and persistent violation of the law and accuses the officials of deliberate lying.

Probably no more opportune time could have been selected by the President to send a report to Congress. Just as the Senate is about to begin voting on the railroad rate bill. The President believes that the facts revealed by Garfield constitute the best argument yet presented that the only effective remedy for secret rebating and open preferential ratings is through government regulation, with such restrictions as are necessary under the constitution.

The President uses the Garfield report as the text for certain recommendations besides the railroad rate bill. He wants Congress to correct the immunity law so offending officials may not escape prosecution, so urges the passage of a free alcohol bill, and to prevent the exploitation by the trusts of coal and oil lands owned by the government.

Mr. Roosevelt's special message sent to Congress this noon in part follows:

I transmit herewith a report by the Commissioner of the Bureau of Corporations in the Department of Commerce and Labor on the subject of transportation and freight rates in connection with the oil industry. The investigation, the results of part of which are summarized in this report, was undertaken in accordance with House Resolution passed February 15, 1905, but for the reasons given in the report it has been more general and extensive than was called for in the resolution itself.

I call your special attention to the letter of transmittal accompanying and summarizing the report; for the report is of capital importance in view of the effort now being made to secure such enlargement of the powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission as will confer upon the Commission power in some measure adequate

Y. M. C. A. MEMBERS OUTING JUNE 15

A BIG PROGRAM AT BUCKEYE LAKE FOR ASSOCIATION BOYS AND FRIENDS.

Progress of Membership Effort Will be Shown on Thermometer at the Y. M. C. A.

Instead of the big annual Y. M. C. A. picnic this year it has been decided to hold a Members' Outing at Buckeye Lake, Friday, June 15. It is to be a membership affair and the program will be planned so as to give the members and their friends a most enjoyable day.

In the meantime it has been proposed that the association make a united effort to secure 100 new members by the time of that outing. The proposition was enthusiastically received by the 75 men present at the closing banquet of the "Red, White and Blue Contest," and already a number of new members have been pledged.

For each new member that one brings in between now and noon on June 15, the Association will furnish free one round trip ticket to Buckeye Lake, besides extending one's membership one month.

New members may join under one of the several offers which Secretary Ebersole will explain.

The progress of this membership effort will be shown on a big membership thermometer in the reception room. Call at the office and get application blanks and help run the mercury column up to the boiling point by June 15.

JUDGE JONES ASKS FOR A RIGID INVESTIGATION OF THE CONVENTION.

Openly Claimed in Marietta That Boodling Was Done in Republican Convention.

Marietta, May 3.—Judge Jones, of the local courts, today instructed the grand jury to make a rigid investigation of the Republican county convention last Tuesday at which he was endorsed for renomination when there was a hard fight on Jones before the convention, and it is openly claimed that boodling was done. Some of the leading attorneys at the bar were interested in the fight. A large number of delegates to the convention has been subpoenaed to testify during the investigation and sensational developments are expected.

COMMANDER BRICE WRITES LETTER

Was on Ranch 60 Miles From San Francisco at Time of Quake. Wife in Frisco.

Professor Amos Brice of this city received a letter on Wednesday evening from his brother, Commander J. J. Brice of the United States navy. Commander Brice said that he was on his ranch, 60 miles north of San Francisco at the time of the earthquake, and while he was considerably shaken up he suffered no injury. His wife and daughter, Miss Elizabeth, however, were in San Francisco on the morning of the earthquake. They, like many thousands of others, were turned into the streets, where they were found wandering aimlessly about, in a half clad condition by a friend, who took them to Oakland in a small boat that he had chartered, and soon after they reached their home in Napa county in safety. Commander Brice says that the whole country is filled with refugees who have been stripped of all their earthly possessions.

England to Menace the Turk.

London, May 3.—"Unless Turkey quickly withdraws her troops from Tabah, Great Britain will take action which will bring the sultan to his senses," said an official of the foreign office. Thus far England has shown extreme patience, listening quietly to the contentions of the Turkish ambassador that the district occupied belongs to the sultan's empire, but insisting that the troops must be withdrawn before the boundary question is discussed. What action is contemplated is known only in inner circles, but probably it will be in the nature of a demonstration by the British Mediterranean fleet at Turkish ports.

The vexatious problem of locating the new Chinatown will probably be settled to the satisfaction of the Chinese colony. COLLINS TRIAL TO THE JURY

Defendant Took Stand Today
After Which Attorneys
Rest Case

ARGUMENTS ARE COMMENCED

DEFENSE SUBMITS CASE WITHOUT
ARGUMENT TODAY

Surprise Created in Court at Conclusion of T. B. Fulton's Address to the Jury.

At the conclusion of Mr. Fulton's argument for the State this afternoon, Mr. Smythe for the defense surprised everybody by announcing that the defense would submit the case without argument. Court thereupon adjourned till 5:30 this afternoon to permit the court to charge the jury. This means the Collins case will go to the jury tonight.

It is possible the court's charge can not be ready by 5:30 but it is the intention of giving the case to the jury as soon as the charge is completed and delivered by the court.

The principal event today in the George E. Collins murder trial which is now drawing to a close was the testimony of the defendant who was sworn following the evidence of one of his attorneys, Mr. H. C. Webster of Toledo. Collins went on the stand at 9:15 this morning. The defendant's testimony was clear and he held up very well under the strict cross examination by Prosecutor Fitzgibbon.

Immediately after Collins was excused, the attorneys for the defense rested, and the State's witnesses in rebuttal were called.

At just 1:40 this afternoon the State finally rested and in ten minutes Attorney T. B. Fulton began his argument for the State.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

Judge Seward announced yesterday afternoon to the attorneys for the defense in the Collins murder trial that he would expect all of their testimony in by Friday evening, so it is believed that the case may go to the jury late Saturday afternoon. The defense still has a number of witnesses to be examined.

Thursday afternoon Mrs. Lottie Finley, residing on West Jefferson street, followed the witness Nicholas Powell. This witness stated that she saw the shooting take place, saw one man walk up as if to shake hands, and then saw the shot fired. She stated that she saw two of the men running and the one, walking slowly.

The defendant, George Collins, walked to the witness stand and the witness stated that he was not the man whom she saw doing the shooting.

In the cross-examination the witness stated that there were four shots fired.

Mrs. George, 199 Jefferson street said that on the fatal evening, she was at her home and saw four shots fired. She said that she saw seven men meet in the commons. The witness said that all four shots were fired south; that about an hour before she saw three men standing behind Powell's stable talking.

The witness varied from the others considerably in the location of the shooting, the number of men and some minor particulars.

John Marker was called as the next witness. Mr. B. G. Smythe conducted the examination, after which the prosecutor began his cross-examination in which he referred to the trouble of Marker and John Goodwin in which the latter was killed by some Italians as an outgrowth of the strike at the Wehrle foundry.

At this point there was strenuous objections from the counsel for the defense, and after a lengthy argument before the court, Judge Seward sustained the objections of the defendant's attorneys, and the prosecutor was forced to abandon the subject.

He then cross-examined the witness regarding the statement claimed by him to have been made by Taylor. The witness claimed that Taylor said there were going to lay the trouble out to him and that he "didn't know how to get out of it."

F. A. Woolson, a reporter for the Advocate, was called.

"Were you the reporter for the Advocate in December last year?"

"I was."

"Did you have a talk with Frank Crown?"

"I remember of talking to Frank Crown, that is I remember that there was a fellow in the trouble named Crown."

"Did you hear him say to you that Taylor shot directly at him and the bullet whizzed uncomfortably near his head?"

"I can't say that I remember."

"Did you read your report in the paper the next day?"

"I can't say that I did."

Rose Hickman was next called. She testified that a bullet struck her house on the night of the shooting. She was not cross-examined.

Stephen Ulrich, a resident of West Newark, came to the stand and testified that shortly before the shooting he (Collins) came to him with his overcoat and he took it to the tailor shop. He further said that the coat was not taken from the shop until after the shooting, and that he afterward gave it to a polisher who presented a signed order from Collins.

C. A. Wilson of the American-Tribune was called and upon examination said that Frank Crown, in an interview, had stated that Taylor had made threats against him, and also that he (Taylor) had shot at him, and uncomfortably near him.

Horatio Wood was the next witness. The witness stated that Taylor had said that all of those boys from Hanover knew him, that they would lay it onto him and that before he got his "neck stretched" he would lay it on to some one else.

Mayor S. H. McCleery was called. He brought the criminal docket of the mayor's court, but through a misunderstanding the mayor was excused.

Court Stenographer C. C. Cooper was asked as to Crown's testimony before the coroner, evidently for the purpose of impeaching the witness Crown.

FRIDAY MORNING.

The first witness of the defense Friday morning was Charles H. Wells who was examined regarding the angle at which the fatal shot was fired. It was shown that in case a man was kneeling and fired so that the bullet in penetrating the body at an angle of five degrees, the man shooting would have been 20 feet away from the man who was shot. The examination of this witness was wholly scientific and rather technical. The cross-examination was evidently quite satisfactory to the prosecutor.

Attorney Webster was sworn, and upon being asked by Mr. Smythe if Hugh Taylor at the county jail, did not say to himself and Mr. Phil Smythe that he had straight information through Mr. Fitzgibbon to the effect that if he stuck to the story that he told the officers, Judge Seward would release him within a week and that if he did not they'd send him to the penitentiary. Mr. Webster replied that Taylor had made such a statement.

At 9:15 Friday morning the defendant, George E. Collins, was placed upon the witness stand.

He stated that he was 38 years of age; was born in Tippecanoe City, O. The defendant's life history and trade were traced. He stated that he was married in 1899 and had two children, one died at the age of ten days and another at the age of two years.

"You may tell us what you did when you got to the Wehrle stove works."

"I applied for work polishing. I polished on stoves for a little over four weeks. I came in one morning and found a note on my work telling me to do it over. I refused and they discharged me. I went over to Holler's saloon and I went to hunt the secretary of the union. About fifteen days after I was working there was the first time that I saw any of the striking polishers."

"On the day that Loar was shot I left Holler's saloon about half past one. I went from there down to what's called the 'Iron Clad' to take some metal polish which I had sold. I went to the barber shop and then went to see Mr. Ludy who talked about taking some polish of me. After I left Ludy's I stopped in Mr. Embury's and then went over to Mr. Holler's. Later I met a moulder, and met Britton and Kerrigan, and we went to Keefe's. I was in there from half past three until about five o'clock. I was talking in there and standing at the end of the bar. It wasn't but about ten or fifteen minutes till Mr. Hazerty came in. I left a pair of shoes there for him. He hadn't more than got out until somebody hollowed in the door that there was something doing over in the bottoms. Some one got in ahead of me and gave me a shove; then they all ran out and I ran with them. We'd got about even with the signboard when I heard three or four shots fired. We ran upon the bank and Britton made the remark 'I wonder if that's any of our boys.' I said I'd go over and see. I started over and got out in the field and met a young man coming back. I asked him what was going on. He said there was trouble over there, and I asked him if he was in it and he said he was getting away from it. I said 'who are you?' and he said he was a friend of mine."

"A friend of mine saw Muentner this morning," the witness said over the wire. "Muentner says he is innocent of the charges; that he did not give his wife any kind of poison. I was

Father Sherman and his escort reached here Wednesday night, where they learned of the President's order. So wrought up was Father Sherman over what he considered an insult by President Roosevelt that he at once took his baggage from the army wagon, accompanying the expedition, and had it moved into the home of his friend, General Granger, who was military secretary to General W. T. Sherman and who has resided here for several years.

Washington, May 4.—President Roosevelt after having learned of the vigorous protests made by Southern members of Congress and citizens throughout the South by the expedition of the Rev. Father Thomas Sherman, with a military escort, over the route traversed by his father, General Sherman, in the latter's famous "march to the sea," issued an order directing that the detachment escorting Father Sherman leave him, as already telegraphed to the Advocate.

He claims. He also holds that it came unsought by him. It was pressed upon him by what is recognized as powers with authority to act for the Government in matters of such kind.

But the action of the Government was not the only thing to aggravate Father Sherman. He learned how the name of Sherman is hated in Georgia, though 40 years have passed since that famous march.

General and Mrs. A. O. Granger had arranged for a reception in honor of Father Sherman and had bidden the prominent people of Cartersville. But few came to meet Father Sherman.

Father Sherman's trip over the route of his father's famous march through Georgia brought forth indignant protests from the Southern contingent in Congress and an investigation by the War Department into the responsibility for the reported detail of United States soldiers to act as escort for "Old Tecumseh's" son.

Senator Bacon of Georgia, called the attention of the War Department officials to the Chattanooga report of Father Sherman's trip, under military escort, over the line of march followed by General Sherman between that place and Atlanta and demanded an explanation.

MUENTER NOW HIDING IN CHICAGO

Professor's Sister Disappears on Day from the East.

Chicago, May 4.—Interest in the Muentner murder mystery was considerably increased by two incidents. One was the disappearance of Miss Bertha Muentner shortly after her arrival in the city in the morning, and the second and more important was a telephone message announcing to police headquarters that the missing Harvard university professor was seen in Chicago yesterday.

All day long Miss Muentner eluded her friends and detectives. She left the train which brought her from Cambridge, Mass., at Englewood at 1 o'clock in the morning.

Inquiries at the Hollenden Hotel, where she made her home, brought forth the announcement that Miss Muentner was not there and was not expected. Word from Cambridge says she has in her possession her brother's diary, which gives an account of his history for years back.

It is also reported that while conducting a personal investigation in Cambridge she obtained the true facts concerning Mrs. Muentner's death.

While the search for the young woman was still claiming the attention of the police late in the afternoon Lieutenant Rohan received a mysterious telephone message in his office at the city hall.

A man who declined to divulge his identity declared that Muentner was hiding in Chicago.

And is Now Supplying 70 Towns in Makes Argument.

Cincinnati, May 4.—Mayor Charles Herbert Jones of Norwood, as attorney for the Ohio Fuel Supply company, yesterday afternoon addressed the council committee on light, giving reasons for the passage of the two ordinances granting that company a natural gas franchise in Cincinnati and fixing the prices to be charged at 25, 28 and 30 cents per 1,000 feet of gas.

He explained that the ordinances properly protect the people's interests, and that the company is abundantly able to supply the gas. He stated that it has 300,000 acres of approved gas territory; is now supplying 70 towns in Ohio with natural gas, and that there has never been a complaint against it. He stated that they have already laid 10 miles of pipe for natural gas in Norwood and will be ready to supply that city with natural gas between July 1 and July 15 next. The pipe laying, he declared, does not interfere with traffic on the street.

He said that this brings the company to the doors of Cincinnati with a surplus of several hundred million cubic feet of natural gas to sell at prices that will effect a saving of hundreds of thousands of dollars to the people of this city.

F. H. Field, the traveling representative of the company, indicated the committee to inspect is going work in Norwood, and the invitation was accepted. They will move at the office of Mr. Mullen on Government square at 9 a. m. today and will proceed from that place to Norwood.

SPECIAL MESSAGE DEALS BLOW AT GIANT STANDARD OIL TODAY

Company Has Been and is Receiving Secret Rates and Unjust and Illegal Discrimination

Commissioner Garfield Says Investigation is Mainly Based on Tariffs and Records of Railway Companies
Themselves—President's Message.

Washington, May 4.—Astounding revelations regarding the methods and practices of the Standard Oil company and its railroad allies were made today when President Roosevelt in a special message, sent to Congress the report of Commissioner Garfield.

Seldom has organized capital been so relentlessly pilloried. The work of the independent investigators of the Oil Trust in recent years has been completely overshadowed.

Mr. Garfield presents an array of facts and figures with a clearness of expression that a child could understand. He convicts the Oil Trust of flagrant and persistent violation of the law and accuses the officials of deliberate lying.

Probably no more opportune time could have been selected by the President to send a report to Congress, just as the Senate is about to begin voting on the railroad rate bill. The President believes that the facts revealed by Garfield constitute the best argument yet presented that the only effective remedy for secret rebating and open preferential ratings is through government regulation, with such restrictions as are necessary under the constitution.

The President uses the Garfield report as the text for certain recommendations besides the railroad rate bill. He wants Congress to correct the immunity law so offending officials may not escape prosecution, so urges the passage of a free alcohol bill, and to prevent the exploitation by the trusts of coal and oil lands owned by the government.

Mr. Roosevelt's special message sent to Congress this noon in part follows:

I transmit herewith a report by the Commissioner of the Bureau of Corporations in the Department of Commerce and Labor on the subject of transportation and freight rates in connection with the oil industry. The investigation, the results of part of which are summarized in this report, was undertaken in accordance with House Resolution passed February 15, 1905, but for the reasons given in the report it has been more general and extensive than was called for in the resolution itself.

I call your special attention to the letter of transmittal accompanying and summarizing the report; for the report is of capital importance in view of the effort now being made to secure such enlargement of the powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission as will confer upon the Commission power, in some measure adequate to meet the clearly demonstrated needs of the situation. The facts set forth in this report are for the most part not disputed. It is only the inferences from them that are disputed, and even in this respect the dispute is practically limited to the question as to whether the transactions are or are not technically legal. The report shows that the Standard Oil company has benefited enormously up almost to the present moment by secret rates, many of these secret rates being clearly unlawful. This benefit amounts to at least three-quarters of a million a year. This three-quarters of a million represents the profit that the Standard Oil company obtains at the expense of the railroads; but, of course the ultimate result is that it obtains a much larger profit at the expense of the public. A very striking result of the investigation has been that, after the discovery of these secret rates, the major portion of them were promptly corrected by the railroads, so that most of them have been done away with. This is a very important, partial or complete correction, and it is known that the Standard Oil company has been exposed.

In effort to prevent the railroads from uniting for improper purposes, we have very wisely prohibited them from uniting for proper purposes—that is, for the purpose of protecting themselves and to the general public as against the power of great corporations. They should be given power thus to act on conditions laid down by Congress, such conditions to include specific approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission of any agreement to which the railroads may come. In addition to this the Government must interfere through its agents to deprive the railroad of the ability to make to the big corporations the concessions which otherwise it is powerless to refuse.

The Government should have power by its agents to examine into the conduct of the railroads—that is, the examiners under the direction of the Interstate Commerce Commission should be able to examine as thoroughly into the affairs of the railroad.

the other hand a proof of the efficiency of the work that has been done by the Bureau of Corporations. The Department of Justice will take up the question of instituting prosecutions in at least certain of the cases. But it is most desirable to enact into law the bill introduced by Senator Knox to correct the interpretation of the immunity provision rendered in Judge Humphrey's decision. The hands of the government have been greatly strengthened in securing an effective remedy by the recent decision of the Supreme court in the case instituted by the government against the tobacco trust, which decision permits the government to examine the books and records of any corporation engaged in interstate commerce; and by the recent conviction and punishment of the C. B. & Q. railroad and certain of its officers. But in addition to these secret rates the Standard Oil profits immensely by open rates, which are so arranged as to give it an overwhelming advantage over its independent competitors. The refusal of the railroads in certain cases to prorate produces analogous effects. * * *

It is not possible to put into figures the exact amount by which the Standard profits through the gross favoritism shown it by the railroads in connection with the open rates. The profit of course comes not merely by the saving in the rate itself as compared with its competitors, but by the higher prices it is able to charge, and (even without reference to these higher prices) by the complete control of the market which it secures, thereby getting the profit on the whole consumption. Here again the only way by which the discrimination can be cured is by conferring upon the Interstate Commerce Commission the power to take quick and effective action in regulating the rates.

One feature of the report which is especially worthy of attention is the showing made as to the way in which the law is evaded by treating as State commerce what is in reality merely a part of interstate commerce. * * *

It is unfortunately not true that the Standard is the only great corporation which in the immediate past has benefited, and is at this moment benefiting, in wholly improper fashion by an elaborate series of rate discriminations. * * *

The argument is sometimes advanced against conferring upon some governmental body the power of supervision and control over interstate commerce, that to do so tends to weaken individual initiative. Investigations such as this conclusively disprove any such allegation. On the contrary, the proper play for individual initiative can only be secured by such governmental supervision as will curb those monopolies which crush out all individual initiative. The railroad itself can not without such Government aid protect the interests of its own stockholders as against one of these great corporations loosely known as trusts.

In effort to prevent the railroads from uniting for improper purposes, we have very wisely prohibited them from uniting for proper purposes—that is, for the purpose of protecting themselves and to the general public as against the power of great corporations. They should be given power thus to act on conditions laid down by Congress, such conditions to include specific approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission of any agreement to which the railroads may come. In addition to this the Government must interfere through its agents to deprive the railroad of the ability to make to the big corporations the concessions which otherwise it is powerless to refuse.

The Government should have power by its agents to examine into the conduct of the railroads—that is, the examiners under the direction of the Interstate Commerce Commission should be able to examine as thoroughly into the affairs of the railroad.

COLLINS MURDER TRIAL

was from Hanover and was just going over to the shop to work. Then he walked back and I went on over to the saloon and afterward went west."
"Mr. Collins, did you shoot Homer Loar?" asked Mr. Phil Smythe.
"No, sir. I did not."
"Did you kneel on your knee and discharge a revolver at Homer Loar or anyone else?"
"No, sir."
"Did you fire any shots at any time that day?"
"No, sir."
Cross-examined by Mr. Fitzgibbon.
"How long before you came to Newark did you know there was a strike on?"
"About two months."
"You're a good union man weren't you?"
"I was not."
"What local did you later become a member of?"
"I was a member of local 13."

"Before you left St. Louis you were charged with misappropriating the funds of the union, weren't you?"
"Such a charge has never been read to me."
"Well, what was the charge?"
"Conduct unbecoming a union man."
"Was that all?"
"Well, I was to collect the tickets, and there was some of them gone. They were charged up to me, but I was given 30 days to settle, which I did after going to work at Wehrle's."
The prosecutor asked the defendant concerning three separate assaults in which he was implicated. The defendant answered that it was true that he was arrested on these charges, but in each instance was released; that he was guilty of none of these charges. What were you doing upon the 18th?"

"I don't know what I was doing on the 18th."
"Well, how does it come that you remember so distinctly to tell Mr. Smythe everything that you did from the 21st up until this shooting?"
"Why, I just remember what I did."
"Where did you get this gun you had around here?"

"I didn't have a gun here. I never had a gun in my hands while I was in this town."

The defendant was further cross-questioned regarding facts leading up to the time of the shooting.
"How many went across the bridge with you?"

"I thought there were two people."
"Don't you know how many there were?"

"No, I do not. I didn't look around."
"Then how do you know anyone was following you?"

"Why, I could hear them coming."
The witness was asked regarding Crown's testimony when Crown said that Collins took him to the south side of the canal and ran up west on the canal. Collins answered that Crown either was mistaken or else his statement was untrue.

"You say you went over to see if any of your men were over there?"
"Yes, I went over, to see about hat."

"Then why did you stop and come back with that other fellow without seeing about it?"

"Why, I wasn't particular who the fellow was. He was half scared to death and I walked back with him."

After a short recess the re-examination of the defendant was resumed, and after a few brief questions he was excused, after which the defense rested. Upon the request of the prosecutor, before the resting of the defense, the witness Egoff was recalled and asked if he heard Britton say to over and see if it was any of their boys. He said he did not. He also stated in contradiction of the defense's witness Walton, that he had not told Walton that someone was shot over there; that the bar tender was mistaken for he didn't know that anyone was shot up there.

Charlie Hahn was the first witness called by the State in rebuttal.

Cashier at the Wehrle stove works stated that Collins worked at the Wehrle works from the 12th to the 22d of September.

Mr. Kirkendahl testified that he heard Collins say, on the 4th of December, that he would "blow some one" head off and skip the town.

He further stated that he had seen the defendant carrying a revolver.

Cross-examined by Mr. B. G. Smythe.

"You're a non-union polisher?"
"Yes, sir."

"You have't a very good feeling for Collins, have you?"
"Not very, no sir."

"Enough to effect your testimony?"
"Not so much, no."

"How did you happen to hear him say that if you weren't talking to him?"

"Because it was said very loud."
"You were standing there listening for something to carry to Kraver?"
"No, I didn't know Kraver."
"What are the exact words he used?"

"He said 'he would blow some brains out and leave town.'"
"Those were the exact words?"
"Yes, sir."
"Word for word?"
"Yes, sir."

"Who was he referring to?"
"I didn't know."
"Who did you ever tell about it?"
"My wife."
"Who else?"
"My wife and 'Cap' Kraver."
"Oh you told 'Cap' Kraver about it?"

"Yes, sir."
"Why did you do that?"
"Because I thought it was my duty."
The witness was further questioned regarding the time when he claimed to have seen a revolver on Collins.

The witness was further questioned regarding the time when he claimed to have seen a revolver on Collins.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

The first witness of Friday afternoon was Mrs. Webster Stevenson, who stated that she saw Collins point a revolver at a man in the car, at the corner of Union and Wilson street. Jacob Might and Charlie Ross, all Wehrle employees, testified to having seen him point a revolver. On cross-examination the witness differed some as to distances and minor details.

The witness Willey was called and stated that no one stepped between himself and Taylor, as was testified by Taylor. On cross-examination the witness stated that he did not know whether or not anyone stepped in front of Taylor or kept him from following the witness (Willey.)

Russell Legg, coroner's constable and stenographer at the time of the shooting, was called. He identified the coroner's report and the testimony of Nicholas Powell, in which Powell did not testify that three men came from Jefferson street toward the canal just before the shooting, which the witness did state on examination Thursday before the court.

Mr. Phil Smythe brought from the witness the fact that the question was not asked before the coroner.

BRAVE BOY

Trundled His Baby Sister All the Way From St. Louis, Mo., to English, Ind.

English, Ind., May 4—Edward Jones, 15 years old, and his three year old sister, abandoned, as they say, by their father in St. Louis, Mo., arrived at this place en route to relatives in Louisville, Ky.

The brave little fellow, very small for his years, walked the whole way and trucked his baby sister ahead in a baby carriage, sleeping where opportunity or charity allowed. They averaged a little more than eight miles a day, making the 228 miles in 26 days. Sympathetic citizens of English furnished the children with a ticket to Louisville, where they have relatives.

NARROW ESCAPE

From Being Crushed to Death Under the Wheels—Croton Items of Interest.

Croton, O., May 4—A serious accident occurred here whereby Cliff Hogan had a narrow escape, from death. Hogan had started to go to Newark on the local and when getting on his right leg caught in some way and a large gash was torn in the flesh. Dr. Haines was immediately called and took several stitches in the injured member. This should be a warning to others who are inclined to take free rides. This is not the first time that some of the boys have come near getting killed, but it should be the last.

Jeff Wells met with a very serious and painful accident. While working, a hatchet slipped from the handle and struck him on the foot. Drs. Haines, Hempstead and Stoughton were called immediately to the scene and they dressed the wound. Mr. Wells will be laid up for quite a while.

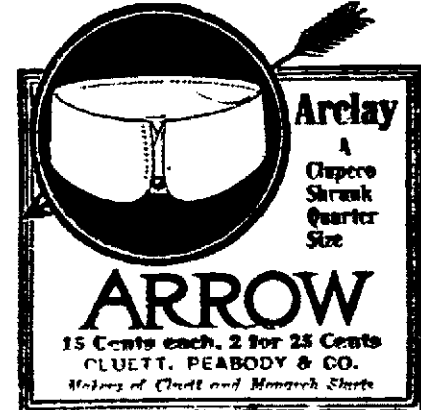

Bethel Circle of The King's Daughters will meet at the home of Miss Lulu Clouse, Wednesday, May 9. Mrs. Kathryn Dav leader. Let the purple and white be well represented. We extend an invitation to all interested in the good work.

Ohio Shippers After Foraker's Scalp.

The Ohio Shippers are reaching out for the hair of one J. B. Foraker, in a manner far from suggestive of political peace when the well known ambitions of the senior senator finally come up for indorsement by the voters of the state. The Ohio Shippers represent nearly 4000 business houses in this state, many of them of the first importance. They are certainly making no concealment of their dissatisfaction with Senator Foraker's course on the railroad rate bill, and, as the great majority of them are Republicans, the resulting condition is most threatening to Mr. Foraker's further public career. The fight between the senator and the shippers' association is one that must go on to the bitter end, but Democrats may view it with equanimity. A crucial test will come in the Republican state convention over the matter of the proposed Foraker indorsement. Other influences, more essentially political in character, will undoubtedly cause the senior senator other embarrassment at this critical time, but the shippers may be expected to have considerable to do with the deliberations of this august assemblage in regard to Mr. Foraker and his presidential ambitions.

If private capital can be induced to finance the building operations of San Francisco at a fair rate, as is said to be seriously proposed, this will be better than having Congress pass special legislation to advance government funds. In these days of large combinations of capital for great undertakings it would seem to be feasible to make arrangements for the advancing of $100,000,000 by a syndicate for the general reconstruction of the destroyed city. The insurance companies which have suffered heavily at San Francisco could assist very greatly in making such arrangements which would be beneficial to them, as well as to the property holders, whose property they must either pay for or replace.

Democratic Congressional Convention.

The Democrats of the Seventeenth Congressional District of Ohio will meet in delegate convention at New Philadelphia.

GREAT SOUTHERN.

The Great Southern Theater will offer on Tuesday, May 8, Marie Cahill in the musical play, "Moonshine" which has been one of the few productions of that type upon which has been bestowed great favor in the east this year. Miss Cahill's work in this production has made her prominence as a star one of permanency. She managed to secure out of her impersonation a continuous array of comic effects and this she accomplishes by refined subtle methods. This capability is her distinguishing talent. She possesses a vast fund of humor and this asserts itself at every turn, communicating the real spirit of comedy to the audience without fail.

"Moonshine" has a story of substance and consistency. The production is richly staged and costumed and the supporting company is an able one. Seat sale will open Saturday, May 5.

THE GRAND COLUMBUS.

"Fantana," which will be seen at the Grand, Columbus, tonight and Saturday, May 4-5, is out of the ordinary run of musical comedies. It is a musical play and the cast which Sam L. and Lee Shubert have provided for this oriental musical conceit makes it all the more attractive and amusing. "Fantana" tells the story of a rich California vineyard owner, who wants his daughter to marry a French count. The daughter Fanny called "Fantana," which is also the name of the vineyard, is in love with a naval lieutenant. He is ordered to Japan and she arranges a trip on her father's yacht for the entire party. The Japanese ambassador is supposed to go along with them, but at the last minute he is called back to Washington. Thereupon Hawkins, the commodore's valet, played by Mr. DeAngelis is given the ambassador's clothes and goes to Japan with the party, disguised as the real ambassador. While in Japan his identity is discovered and he is sentenced to death. At the same time it is discovered that the French count to whom the commodore would marry his daughter, is a bogus one and a former waiter. Hawkins manages to escape from his captors and swims to the yacht, which is leaving for home. Once arrived there everything is straightened out, Fanny wins her lieutenant and Hawkins is promoted in the service and marries Jessie the maid of all work.

NEWARK OLD FOLKS

Should Read This.

"One of the saddest sights in the world is an aged person with tottering steps and bowed down with the infirmities of old age," said Druggist Frank D. Hall, "and if the publishers of the Advocate only realized the good Vinol will do for aged residents of Newark, they would devote columns of space in their paper urging such people to take our cod liver oil preparation, Vinol."

"When a person reaches that time in life where they are on the downward path, all the organs act more slowly, the blood becomes thin and sluggish, and it is difficult to obtain sufficient nourishment from the food eaten to keep up strength and vitality."

Vinol changes a decrepit old person into a healthy, cheerful companion, because it is nature's remedy for creating strength and vitality.

Vinol is not a patent medicine, as everything it contains is named on the back label of every bottle, but it is guaranteed to be a genuine cod liver medicine, containing all the medicinal curatives and strength-giving elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cod's livers, with organic iron and other body-building elements, and we guarantee to the aged, the weak, run-down, debilitated and convalescent of Newark that Vinol will repair worn tissues and replace weakness with strength or return money in every case where it fails."—Frank D. Hall, Druggist.

WASHINGTON NEWS

Washington, May 4.—The department of justice will immediately begin thorough investigation of the relations of the so-called oil trust and a number of railroads, with a view of determining whether there have been violations of the anti-trust law. The basis for this investigation will be the information recently submitted to the report of Commissioner Garfield of the bureau of corporations, which is soon to be made public. This report, it is learned, deals only with the subject of rebates, and does not go into the question of violations of the anti-trust law. If it is found rebates have been given by the railroads and accepted by the so-called oil trust, steps will be at once taken, it is asserted, to bring the matter before the grand juries in the localities where the alleged violations took place, with a view to prosecutions in the courts. It is not thought that the department of justice in conducting its inquiries will require the services of any one outside of the department proper and the United States attorneys and other officers under its immediate direction.

Gompers' Appeal.

Washington, May 4.—President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor made what he hoped would be his last appeal for congressional action on the eight-hour bill. He talked to the house committee on labor with great frankness and earnestness. Year after year, he said, the argument and printed record had piled up. The laboring people of the country were earnest in their desire for the legislation. Patience was exhausted, and it was earnestly hoped that the present session of congress would not adjourn without action.

Midshipmen Restored.

Washington, May 4.—Three midshipmen, dismissed from the naval academy for hazing, have been recommended by the president for restoration to the academy with a loss of one year. The midshipmen are Worth W. Forter, a member of the first class, and George H. Melvin and Richard L. DeSausure, members of third class.

President Signs Bills.

Washington, May 4.—President Roosevelt signed the bills passed by congress making an extra appropriation of $100,000 for Mare Island navy yard at San Francisco, and making an appropriation of $70,000 to meet emergencies in the postoffice department in the state of California.

Naval Bill Taken Up.

Washington, May 4.—The naval appropriation bill, which carries nearly $100,000,000 for the naval establishment, was taken up by the house. Beyond the explanation of the bill by Mr. Foss of Illinois, chairman of the committee on naval affairs, and the running fire of questions which his presentation called forth, there was little interest shown in the early part of the debate that ensued. Toward the close of the session, however, a lively colloquy occurred between Mr. Bates of Pennsylvania, Mr. Williams of Mississippi, Mr. Clark of Missouri and Mr. Payne of New York over certain statements made by Mr. Bates in relation to the price of steel rails.

McWade's Denial.

Washington, May 4.—The house committee on foreign affairs listened to a statement by former Consul General McWade at Canton, China, in reply to the charges made against him by Third Assistant Secretary of State Peirce. Affidavits were presented by Mr. McWade to show the unreliable and criminal character of those who instigated the charges. Mr. McWade made charges of a sensational nature against Assistant Secretary of State Peirce. It is considered quite probable that congress may take up the matter of these charges at later date.

TALK GIVEN ON SCHOOL GARDENS

REAL SCHOOL GARDEN IS AN OUT-DOOR LABORATORY FOR USEFUL PURPOSE.

May Be Used For Three Purposes. Largest School Garden at Hampton Institute.

The following is taken from a talk on School Gardens by Mabel Keyes at the Newark High school:

In considering school gardens there are two main ideas: (1) The adornment of the grounds; (2) The making of distinct gardens for direct instruction.

The first idea is of universal application. Every school ground can be improved first by cleaning up and then by grading, seeding and planting. This improvement should be a matter of neighborhood pride. It shows the people's interest for the things that are theirs. The first thing to do is to secure this interest, and much of it may be accomplished by interesting the children. The next thing is to clean up. It must be understood from the beginning that no ideal plan of landscape gardening can be carried out at once. The cleaning up once done the lawn should be seen to and then comes the planting. The ground should be made interesting to the onlooker as a picture as a whole, and not as a collection of plants. It must be remembered that during a large part of the year it will be practically without care, and so the planting must be able to maintain itself. The centres should be left open and the planting thrown mostly to the borders. Elaborate designs in bedding and scattered effects are to be avoided. Have the planting as little and simple as possible and yet accomplish the desired results.

The real school garden is a different idea from this. It is an outdoor laboratory and should have a special area set aside for it just as any other laboratory has. Its real object is not to be ornamental but to be useful. It may be used for three purposes: to aid in the teaching of nature study, to supply material for work in botany, and to help in teaching agriculture.

What is thought to be the largest school garden in the United States is at the Hampton Institute for Negroes and Indian youth in Virginia. Two acres of ground are given up to it, being divided into two hundred plots, varying in size from four by six feet for the pickaninies of the kindergarten to eleven by fifteen feet for the oldest boys and girls. Each plot is owned for the time being by two children, who enter into partnership and share equally in the work and profits. The supervision of the work is in the hands of the director of agricultural department of the Institute, who decides what vegetables and flowers shall be planted and how they shall be arranged. This gives symmetry and order to the garden as a whole. To make it of practicable value in later life and to give it dignity and interest the gardening is preceded by experiments illustrating plant growth and a study is made of seed dispersion, the value of different soils and the effects of different insects. The results of two years in this school have been very good. A beneficial rivalry has sprung up between the owners of adjoining plots, an interest in birds, insects and the beauty of wayside flowers and other common things has been developed. The roughest children have been made more gentle by handling the beautiful flowers they have grown. Other results are: a regard for the property and rights of others, an appreciation of the advantage of working together and a forbearance and loyalty to one's partner. After considering these influences one will admit that this subject is worthy of a place in the course of study of our common schools.

All the hospitals and almshouses in Berlin are regularly supplied with flowers from the city.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 4.—A man giving the name of William E. Herboth and his address as New York, accused of launching a brand-new swindle, has been arrested here.

Herboth represented himself as an agent for a combination publishing company in New York. For $14 he offered one year's subscription to any of three popular magazines published by the New York firm and a lot 25 by 100 feet at a place designated on an elaborately printed circular as "Beautiful Highland Park" near Seantucket, New York.

The property was supposed to be in the hands of a firm known on the circular as the "Vigilant Land and Security company," which through an understanding with the publishing company, gave their lots to the public on payment of $14.

The prisoner had almost $500 in his possession when searched. He denied that his proposition was other than legitimate.

BIG LOANS

Obtained by Mrs. Chadwick on Bonds For Which Mrs. Jutte Sues, the Attorney Insists.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 4.—That a large portion of the bonds for the recovery of which Mrs. W. C. Jutte is suing James W. Friend and Frank N. Hoffstot were in the possession of Mrs. Cassie Chadwick, and that she had used them to secure loans from wealthy men throughout the country, is admitted by an attorney connected with the suit of Mrs. Jutte.

Mrs. Chadwick had dealings with Hoffstot and Friend, whereby she is said to have swindled them out of $500,000. Mrs. Chadwick admitted that the Jutte bonds figured in these transactions.

It is said that Mrs. Chadwick approached Hoffstot and Friend, and asked them for a loan of $500,000. She offered them a bonus of $300,000 and promised to "secure" them with $5,000,000 worth of bonds. They never got the paper, but gave her the $500,000, it is said in return for her note for $800,000.

SEARCH

By Federal Authorities for Missing Heads of Two Insolvent Banks in Pennsylvania.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 4.—A thorough search is being made throughout the country for Attorney Joseph R. McQuade, of Pittsburg, president of the Delmont National bank, by officials of the United States government. So far as can be learned no one has any knowledge of McQuade's whereabouts, for a week. Now that two banks of which he was the head have been declared insolvent news of his whereabouts is wanted badly by the federal authorities.

Meanwhile United States District Attorney John W. Dunkle is interested particularly in the matter of the failure of the Delmont National bank, which was announced yesterday, and informations are expected to be made before the affair is very much older. Mr. Dunkle will make them as soon as he has all the necessary evidence at hand.

Attorney George H. Hosack of Pittsburg, was appointed receiver of the Monongahela Valley bank, in which McQuade was also interested.

MECHANICS NOT NEEDED IN FRISCO

GENERAL GREELY SAYS THAT ONLY ELEVEN DAYS' RATIONS ARE ON HAND.

No Plan Yet Decided Upon for Securing Funds for Restoration of the City.

San Francisco, May 4.—According to P. H. McCarthy, president of the Building Trades council, there is no dearth of mechanics at this city. Between 2,000 and 2,100 men affiliated with the council are registered, and this number, he says, will be more than ample to handle current operations. He advises against mechanics coming to San Francisco.

Mr. Reuf of the committee on permanent location of Chinese reported that he had had a conference with the first secretary of the Chinese legation at Washington and the Chinese consul general at vice consul at this port. Both gentlemen had intimated that Hunter's Point site would not be acceptable, nor would a site at the Potrero, and he now had under consideration a plan for locating them at the east of Telegraph hill.

Only Eleven Days' Rations. San Francisco, May 4.—General Greely gave warning to the finance committee of the citizens' relief committee that he had only 11 days' rations on hand; that the army could not furnish an ounce of food beyond that which has already been purchased or is in sight and that the feeding of the people is a problem which demands immediate attention. After considerable discussion the committee decided to have a summing up of resources and needs at another conference. Following this meeting it is believed an appeal for food supplies will be made to the country at large.

Worries Financiers. San Francisco, May 4.—No plan has yet been decided upon for securing funds for the restoration of this city. Local financiers continue to worry over the problem, hopeful that the early future will produce a solution that will relieve San Francisco from her great burden of municipal and individual distress.

A PRODUCTION

Of Tennyson's Beautiful Poem, "A Dream of Fair Women."

Under the auspices of the Civic Improvement Society, "A Dream of Fair Women" will be produced at the Auditorium Thursday evening, May 17. It will be one of the most unique performances ever attempted by local talent, being entirely out of the ordinary line and bordering on the professional from a musical as well as an artistic viewpoint. The opening act is one of indescribable beauty and mere words cannot convey to the reader the impression created. The costumes are rich and beautifully gorgeous in their richness. The tot's reception. Up to Date Girls, Innocent Maids, Girls of San An Tone, Poppies of Scarlet, and the famous Chinese Sextet in their different and very fetching costumes are among the several really catchy parts of the program. The Goo Goo Boy is certainly a winner. This pleasing specialty from the Isle of Spice is introduced to our people with a wealth of scenery and a pretty chorus, handsomely costumed. It is certainly an honor to our city to have such a production as cities like Columbus, Cleveland and Toledo are loud in their praises of the show. The Echart Entertainers rank first in the United States in putting on local affairs and certainly with the talent Newark affords we are going to have a two dollar show at popular prices. The Civic Improvement society under whose auspices it is given deserves the support of every one in our town for the work they are doing. Tickets are on sale by the members and children. Prices 35, 50 and 75 cents.

HOTEL WORKER FINED

Harry A. Bernard, charged in Police court with obtaining $5 by false pretenses from Hartman hotel, changed his plea to guilty Wednesday and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and work 30 days in the workhouse and pay the costs. Bernard tried his game on a number of other hotels in the city and is understood to have worked it successfully in other cities, notably Zanesville, Pittsburg, Newark and Cleveland. When through his sentence he will be turned over to other cities.—Columbus Press-Post.

Barberton, May 4—Barberton met the strong Newark O. P. league team here yesterday afternoon and was defeated by a score of 8 to 5. Barberton was not able to place its regular team in the field, otherwise Newark would have been shut out, as Hector pitched a masterly game, allowing Newark but six hits and most of these were made after the opposing team should have been retired. Snyder for Newark and Mackey and Hemila for Barberton, played sensational ball, while Gore and Hector each made hard drives over left field fence for home runs. Score:

Pitcher Upp Injured.
Lancaster, May 4—Pitcher Upp of the local club, was seriously injured in sliding into second base in yesterday's game with Youngstown. His neck and spine were wrenched and it is doubtful if he will ever play again. Kennedy, of Youngstown, pitched a splendid game, allowing the locals but four scattered hits. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Youngstown	6	9	2
Lancaster	2	4	3

Zanesville 5, Sharon 2.
Zanesville, May 4—Zanesville took her sixth straight game here yesterday afternoon, defeating Sharon, 5 to 2 by good hitting. Wilhelm pitched splendid ball until the last inning, when Sharon bunched three hits, but failed to score. Zanesville and Youngstown clash today. Neither has lost a game to date. Score:

NEWARK OPENED AT AKRON TODAY

Zanesville and Youngstown Clash and Fur Will Fly—Youngstown Picked for a Winner.

Today is the day of all days in the O. P. league this month. Two of the Ohio towns on the northern end of the circuit will open their season at home and in one city the battle for the seventh day of a perfect percentage is on. Neither Youngstown nor Zanesville to date has yet lost a game. Youngstown did tie a short game at Mansfield and thus the Zanesville lads have the cleaner record for they have won every contest. If Newark wins today and Mansfield loses, Newark will have the undisputed possession of third place. Youngstown or Zanesville will drop today with an imperfect percentage. The chances are that Youngstown will win out as the pitchers of both teams are about equal in strength but Youngstown has been playing the better game in the field. The team that takes the first fall out of Marly Hogan's bunch, can strut around some among the other teams of the circuit.

NEWARK MAY GET INFILDER RAFTIS

Columbus Player Will be Farmed to Some Minor League for a Few Months.

One of the men who was sought by the local baseball club to stop up the leakage at that second sack, has been lost forever. He is Kahl, a utility infielder who was held by Columbus. He has been sent to Indianapolis and was in yesterday's game with Kansas City. Clymer's Senators got in exchange Infielder Raftis of the Indianapolis club. The latter is not quite good enough for the A. A. and Manager Clymer is banking on disposing of him to some smaller league club for the season. It is probable that Raftis may come to Newark, and if he does Newark's infield will be one of the best ever. Raftis is said to be a fast fielder and an exceptionally strong man with the stick. No better move could be made by the Newark club than to get this man or one as good to strengthen the team at its weakest point.

The club is also considering a man held by the Cincinnati club, and either Raftis or the Cincinnati player would look good to the local fans.

BUCKEYE LAKE'S NEW YACHT CLUB

MUCH INTEREST IS MANIFESTED IN ORGANIZATION OF THE YACHTSMEN.

Meeting at Col. Wells' Island Sunday. Suggestions From Other Similar Clubs on Lakes.

Great interest is being shown by boat owners and yachtsmen in the new club at Buckeye Lake. The approaching meeting will be an important one. The name and flag committee will probably report "Buckeye Lake Yacht Club" as a name. Several flag designs are in the hands of the committee and will be exhibited at the meeting.

The constitution committee has met and drafted a constitution subject to approval next Sunday. Vice Commodore E. S. Browne of Newark, reports great enthusiasm among the cottagers and boat owners at the lake, who have signified their intention of being patrons of the proposed races this summer.

Commodore Sackett's "Buckeye" will probably be entered in the Memorial day regatta, if her sails are done by that time.

Letters of encouragement have been received by Secretary Lynch from Toledo, Cleveland and other points where flourishing yacht clubs now exist.

The Toledo Yacht club secretary, who will sail the new boat being built in the east for the Lipton cup races, wrote many suggestions for the benefit of the new club.

Mr. George F. Mooney of the club, and Mr. W. H. Taylor have both placed new boats at the lake. Several other members have new ones in view. Seven boats are now being built by one concern for use at Buckeye Lake. All are of the latest type of pleasure craft.

The scene at the lake at present is one that delights the true enthusiast. Many persons are busy getting sails, spars and rigging in shape. Some are smoothing hulls and others are repairing and rebuilding. All around the lake a spirit of industry prevails. Yachtsmen usually enjoy tinkering around their craft as well as any other part of their avocation.

The meeting at Col. W. C. Wells' cottage, Orchard Island, Buckeye Lake, on Sunday next, promises the firm establishment of a large and progressive organization to promote yachting at the lake. All interested in boating or yachting at the lake are expected at the meeting. Lunch will be served and transportation facilities will be ample, as a large number of boats belonging to club members will be at Buckeye Lake park to take all who desire to Orchard Island. The meeting will be called at 11 a. m. Sunday, May 6—Columbus Dispatch.

WADDELL SUED

By His Loving Wife Because He Wouldn't Pay Hotel Bills at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, May 4—George Edward Waddell, the irrepressible "Rube" of baseball and theatrical fame, once more the victim of an ill-starred omen, appeared before Magistrate O'Brien to answer a charge of desertion and non-support preferred by his wife. Having no advance information on Mrs. Rube's staying ability, he appeared without his set speech, and was held for court in $600 bail.

According to Mrs. Waddell she

A Live Wire

Every nerve is a live wire connecting some part of the body with the brain. They are so numerous that if you penetrate the skin with the point of a needle you will touch a nerve and receive a shock—pain it is called. Aches and pains come from a pressure, strain or injury to a nerve; the more prominent the nerve the greater the pain. When the pain comes from a large nerve it is called Neuralgia.

whether it be the facial nerves, or the heart, stomach, sciatic or other prominent nerve branch. To stop pain, then, you must relieve the strain or pressure upon the nerves. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills do this.

I suffered intense pain, caused by neuralgia, I ached and used various medicines without getting relief until I took Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. They did me more good than all the medicine I ever used. They never fail to cure my pains, and I have never since had any bad after-effects.

came here from her home in Boston two months ago and put up at a hostelry where the "Rube" was wont to call at frequent intervals. Since the Athletics returned to Philadelphia, his good natured countenance has not been seen by his wife and he was so thoughtless that he failed to pay her bills at the hotel.

She says it is not the first trouble she has experienced with her erratic husband for he got into an altercation with her father in Boston last winter and chased that inoffensive relative about the back lot with an ax, but fortunately for the relative, did not catch him until he had scored the winning run of the game.

HART VS SCHRECK

First Time Since Repeal of Horton Law Heavyweights Meet in New York City.

New York, May 4.—For the first time since the repeal of the Horton law governing boxing bouts in this state two heavyweight pugilists of prominence met here in a four-round contest. The principals were Marvin Hart of Louisville and Mike Schreck of Chicago, and they appeared in the bout which wound up the first series of exhibitions given in the Madison Square Garden concert hall by the newly revived Twentieth Century Athletic club. The men were slow in the opening round, but fought each other almost to a standstill in the other three rounds. Neither seemed to have trained for the contest and they simply slugged wildly without any show of science or judgment. Tim Hurst was referee, but his duties were confined to making the men break from clinches, as no decisions are rendered under the existing legal restrictions.

SPECIAL MESSAGE

as bank examiners now examine into the affairs of banks. It is impossible to work a material improvement in conditions, such as above described merely through the instrumentality of a law suit. A law suit is often a necessary method; but by itself it is an utterly inadequate method. What is needed is the conferring upon the Commission of ample affirmative power, so conferred as to make its decisions take effect at once, subject only to such action by the court as is demanded by the Constitution. The courts have the power to, and will undoubtedly, interfere if the action of the Commission should become in effect confiscatory of the property of an individual or corporation, or if the Commission should undertake to add anything beyond the authority conferred upon it by the law under which it is acting. I am well aware that within the limits thus set the Commission may at times be guilty of injustice; but far grosser and far more frequent injustice, and injustice of a much more injurious kind, now results and must always result from the failure to give the Commission ample power to act promptly and effectively within these broad limits.

Though not bearing upon the question of railroad rates, there are two measures consideration of which is imperatively suggested by the submission of this report. The Standard Oil company has, largely by unfair or unlawful methods, crushed out home competition. It is highly desirable that an element of competition should be introduced by the passage of some such law as that which has already passed the house putting alcohol upon the free list. Furthermore, the time has come when no oil or coal lands held by the government, either upon the public domain proper or in territory owned by the Indian tribes, should be alienated. The fee to such lands should be kept in the United States government whether or not the profits arising from it are to be given to any Indian tribe, and the lands should be leased only on such terms and for such periods as will enable the government to keep entire control thereof.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.
The White House, May 4, 1906.

GARFIELD'S REPORT.

Washington, May 4—Today's report submitted by Mr. Garfield is elaborate and directly charges Standard Oil with habitually receiving from the railroads secret rates and other unjust and illegal discriminations. Figures and dates are given. During 1904 the Standard saved three-quarters of a million dollars through secret rates, discovered by the bureau and of course, says Garfield, there may be other secret rates which the bureau has not discovered. The saving of the Standard in 1904 by secret rate from Olean to Rochester alone was $115,000. The Standard has maintained absolute control of almost the whole section south of the Ohio river and east of the Mississippi by means of secret rates and open discriminations from Whiting, Ind. In California direct rebates as well as discriminations have been given on oil. Open rates from Whiting into a large part of the United States have given the Standard an unfair advantage of from 1 to 12 cents per 100 pounds.

Washington, May 4.—In introducing his report today Commissioner of Corporation Garfield says: "The investigation of petroleum transportation by the bureau of corporations has been mainly based upon the tariffs and records of the railway companies themselves. It has covered a large number of the leading railroad systems throughout the United States. The general result discloses the existence of numerous flagrant discriminations by the railroads in behalf of the Standard and affiliated corporations. With comparatively few exceptions mainly of other large concerns in California, the Standard has been the sole beneficiary of such discriminations. In almost every section of the country the Standard enjoys some unfair advantages over its competitors, and some of the discriminations affect enormous areas. Not only has this resulted in great direct pecuniary advantage in transportation cost to the Standard but it has had a far more important effect of giving the Standard and practically an unassailable monopolistic control of the oil market throughout large sections of the country. Discriminations in transportation of oil embrace a variety of forms. The more important may be classed: 'Secret and semi-secret rates, discriminations in open arrangements, of classification and rules of shipment, and in the treatment of private tank cars.'

On the subject of the secret rates, after discussing the matter of direct giving of rebates, the commissioner says:

"So far as discovered the secret rates enjoyed by the Standard, except in California, have almost all been made from points where the Standard is the only shipper. The secret rate is just as discriminatory, and injurious to the interests of competitors as if charged higher rates for the same hauls. This secrecy leaves the independent refiner in the dark as to the most important factor affecting competition, and prevents him from applying to the railroads on the public authorities for relief."

In concluding after discussing of the natural advantages enjoyed by the Standard through its pipe lines and fleets of oil carrying vessels, Mr. Garfield says: "These advantages alone would give the Standard a highly favorable position in the oil industry. Through its pipe lines and fleets of oil carrying vessels, the Standard is an active and powerful competitor of the railroads."

STANDARD OIL SAYS REPORT ISN'T TRUE.

(Bulletin.)

New York, May 4—When the President's message with the accompanying report of Mr. Garfield was received at the office of the Standard Oil company in New York today, M. F. Elliott, general counsel, gave an unqualified denial of all the charges, saying: "It is difficult to comment hurriedly. We must, however, in justice to ourselves and shareholders immediately express our unbounded surprise over Garfield's report, on which the President's strictures are based, and our declaration that it is absolutely unfair and unjust toward us."

The stock market took the President's oil message cheerfully. Leading stocks advanced one to four points. Even the Standard developed strength. The price on curb advanced 12 points. The stock is now quoted at $610.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the blood will attack the vital organs of the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles most always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sized bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both free of charge, sent free by mail, Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

STRIKE FEELING IS INTENSIFIED

Nothing Short of a Miracle Can Prevent Strike in Coal Fields.

MITCHELL GIVES STATEMENT

RESULT MAY NOT BE KNOWN UNTIL TONIGHT OR TOMORROW

Sentiment Very Strong Against Accepting Proposition of Anthracite Coal Operators.

(Bullefin.)
Scranton, May 4.—In the district convention the miners' scale committee report is being discussed in star chamber session today. The report narrows the question to three propositions: return to work under present conditions, accept restricted methods of arbitration, or strike.

Scranton, Pa., May 4.—The sentiment of practically all of the 600 delegates to the anthracite district miners' convention is for a strike, and it is believed that nothing short of a miracle can prevent a strike being declared throughout the hard-coal region.

President Mitchell made the following statement:

"The sentiment seems very strong against accepting the conditions and restricted arbitration schedule proposed by the arbitrators, or renewing the award of the anthracite commission for a period of three years. The strike feeling has been intensified by the unfortunate and unjustifiable action of the state constabulary at Mount Carmel, as well as their inaction in other parts of the coal regions. Of course it can not be stated positively until this evening or Saturday what the vote will be." Mr. Mitchell denied that he had considered the matter of referring the entire question to a referendum vote of the mine workers.

In convention Mr. Mitchell briefly reviewed the negotiations in so far as they have progressed, and said the committee had perhaps gone further than it should have gone in endeavoring to bring about a peaceful settlement. He told of the propositions made by both sides and then said: "We have offered to arbitrate all the demands we made upon them—or, in other words, we have offered to arbitrate the differences between us—either through the board of conciliation, with Judge Gray as chairman, or through the anthracite strike commission. We have made the reservation, however, that it must be a full commission, not a part of it. That, gentlemen, is the status of affairs at this time, and I am sure I voice the sentiment of every member of the committee when I say we regret that we have not been able to make a tentative agreement that would secure for you better wages and better conditions of employment."

YOUNG PHYSICIANS

Have Splendid Opportunity to Secure Positions in Medical Corps of United States Navy.

County Auditor J. N. Wright, Friday morning received a letter from United States Senator Charles Dick requesting him to call the attention of young physicians in Licking county to the splendid opportunity that is now offered for securing positions in the Medical Corps of the United States Navy. At present there are 46 vacancies in the department. A candidate for appointment in the Medical Corps of the Navy must be a citizen of the United States between 21 and 30 years of age, and must apply to the secretary of the navy for permission to appear before a naval medical examining board. The application must be in the handwriting of the applicant, stating age, and place of birth; also the place and state of which he is a permanent resident, and must be accompanied by letters or certificates from two or more persons of repute, testifying from personal knowledge to his good character, and that he is a citizen of the United States.

For further information, address President Naval Medical Examining Board United States Naval Medical School, corner Twenty-third and E streets N.W., Washington, D. C., or President Naval Medical Examining Board, United States Naval Hospital, Mare Island, Cal.

HE LIKES NEWARK

L. S. Chadwick Says Some Pleasant Things About This Town After a Visit Here.

Mr. L. S. Chadwick, of Alexandria, spent Sunday in Newark, and has the following to say concerning his visit, in the Johnstown Independent:

"It is almost equal to spending Sabbath of 10 years ago at home to greet the many familiar Alexandria people who are now living in Newark who formerly resided here. More than a score of them are represented by whole or parts of families and almost make you think the world is peopled from our little village. We are inclined to think the Garden of Eden was situated not far from where the new buildings are going up. We can remember when the Adams kept grocery about where the new bank is to locate, and when the boys raised Cain by smoking him out with two for a cent cigars made from Licking green tobacco. We surely spent a delightful Sunday among our old friends, attending church in the morning and evening, driving over the city and calling, and calling, and we are glad to note the fact that some of the most prosperous business men and among the nicest homes in the county seat got their start in our village. The city of Newark is making rapid growth and is destined to soon take rank among the great manufacturing and business centers of the Buckeye State. Every citizen of Licking county has just reason to be proud of our county seat. With Johnstown on the west, Newark east and Alexandria in the center, old Licking is, and will continue to be historic."
